STATEMENT

In May 2018 a new European law gets effective, the “General Data Protection Regulation” (GDPR).

The GDPR (in Germany: DSGVO) is directly related to the address and data business, which is the reason for the publication of the following statement.

First and foremost it is most important to understand what GDPR is. GDPR is about natural persons and personal data. See the following snippet, directly taken from the webpage www.eugdpr.org:

What constitutes personal data?

Any information related to a natural person or ‘Data Subject’, that can be used to directly or indirectly identify the person. It can be anything from a name, a photo, an email address, bank details, posts on social networking websites, medical information, or a computer IP address.

This immediately helps to understand, what GDPR is not. GDPR is not related to business data.

DELTA CHECK in general is not engaged in any personal data, but solely and exclusively in business data.

This statement also applies to addresses and data of holiday homes and/or holiday flats (which in everyday speech are sometimes called “private”), as the commercial law regularly defines them as businesses.

And it applies to contact persons in these businesses, too: Contact details in the field of professional work are -by any definition- not private, but public.

DELTA CHECK is not recording, processing, storing or offering any personal data.

In case you have any more questions related to the GDPR, please do not hesitate to contact us.
